255	09-Nov	Monday						Thank you all for your support during this journey. About to start the final leg (the home straight) in couple of days after being joined by my brother. We just had a awesome time in Machu Picchu but now about to get serious. Please keep us in your thoughts and prays and never forget the orphans. This is the 29th country, 10,250 miles complete, continent 4, month 9 just started. Which leaves The Mercy Worldwide, World Cycle Challenge 2015 for Orphans with 4 countries to go, 1750 miles left, 7 weeks remaining.
256	10-Nov	Tuesday	29.57	47.312	3.5	Cuzco	Urcos	Late start, after putting Ajys new bike together. Good down hill for 20 miles, weather held up good. Bit tough for Ajy, first time on a bike after 25 years!
257	11-Nov	Wednesday	17.46	27.936	4	Urcos	Socuani	Few climbs and then, blew a gasket. So had to hitch a ride.
258	12-Nov	Thursday	32.49	51.984	7	Socuani	Alto	Tough day of cycling. 26 miles of uphill to 4335m. Very slow, tiring and lack of oxygen drained us. To top it all off, heavy rain fall and we were standard until we hitched a ride to a hotel. Warm at last.
259	13-Nov	Friday	46.88	75.008	4	Alto	Ayaviri	Good day of cycling, but surrounded by black clouds and heavy rain at a distance, so had to cycle in clear cloud cover, keeping pace. Survived the rain
260	14-Nov	Saturday	62.58	100.128	6.5	Ayaviri	Juliaca	Early cold start to beat the afternoon rain. Good constant cycling and pace, sunny with good breeze.
261	15-Nov	Sunday	39.64	63.424	5.5	Juliaca		Overcast with bits of Sun, one small climb, chilly with dark clouds threatening and thunder roaring. Decent day of cycling which involved search operation of lost cyclist.

267	21-Nov	Saturday	76.37	122.192	10		Villamontes	Tough day of cycling, constant headwind all day, 25km of very bad road. No food stops or anything on route. Made it to border just at sunset. Nowhere to stay & kindly put up by head of police in his room. Carlos!
268	22-Nov	Sunday	73.06	116.896	10		Paraguay border	Very tough day of cycling, no good night before, no food all day just snacks, and headwind. Then nowhere to stay and too dark to cycle, sat outside police station, then at midnight got charged $40 for a horrible room with old mattresses on floor. Still no meal!
269	23-Nov	Monday	2.37	3.792	1		La Patria	This country it's tough. Temperature up to 38°C very hot and humid and the roads have sunk! Police got us on only bus which passes this baron land. Ended up at American air base and finally got a pizza and chips! Oh and finally after 3 days in Paraguay we got our official entry. Weird place!
270	24-Nov	Tuesday	65.55	104.88	8		Mariscal Estigarribia.	Very hot and humid day of cycling, 44°C., Aja had a minor heat exhaustion attack, noting major but rather funny now. Stocked up on food and got a decent hotel and meal at last! Few tough days of cycling ahead.
271	25-Nov	Wednesday	60.47	96.752	8		Filadelfia	Hot and interesting day of cycling, wind in all directions. Had to take the long way around to get here due to road conditions. Nice place to stay.
272	26-Nov	Thursday	77.69	124.304	12		Loma Plata	Long day, constant cycling, mad section of road for a bit, no stopping points for anything. Standard at end with no daylight to cycle, recused by Vincent and Nelson.

273	27-Nov	Friday							Very eventful start, got attacked by mosquitoes, they chased us on our bikes and kept biting us, when we stopped many more just starting to attack us. Hot humid day, mid 40's but lovely tale wind. Towards end had no option but to hitch a ride due to swelling from bites and threat of evening attacks, lethal mosquitoes here! Hitched a ride in open truck at back and got soaked in a thunderstorm! Finally comfortable and some food options. ...and amongst all that I hit the 11,000 mile mark today!
